Certification marks on other materials

You may use certification marks on a range of other materials. They must be used to suggest certification applies anything other than the defined scope.

There is a set of defined formats for the use of each marks in the table on page 9.

A1-A3 apply to use the Cert Mark for all applicable schemes

The appropriate mark shall only be used by clients on:

- Letterhead, envelopes, compliments slips, business cards, invoices, advertising, display, marketing material, documentation and manuals – Formats A1 & A2
- Vehicles, buildings and flags – Format A1 ONLY
- The marks shall only be used in its entirety and without amendment.

Use on stationery items

Formats A1 & A2 may used on: Letterhead, envelopes, compliments slips, business cards, invoices but only when used in conjunction with the user's own mark/logo. When used on these items, the area (w x h) of the mark shall not exceed 75% of the area (w x h) of the user's own mark/logo. The minimum size requirements still apply.

Promotional items

Formats A1 & A2 may be used on: advertisements, articles, brochures, websites, exhibition display panels only when used in conjunction with the user's own mark/logo. When used on these items, the area (w x h) of the mark shall not exceed 75% of the area (w x h) of the user's own mark/logo. The minimum size requirements still apply.

Signage items

Format A1 may be used on: building signage, flags, vehicles but only used in conjunction with the user's own mark/logo. When used on these items, the area (w x h) of the mark shall not exceed 75% of the area (w x h) of the user's own mark/logo. The minimum size requirements still apply.

Secondary packaging/shipping boxes

Format A3 may be used for secondary packaging/shipping boxes, i.e. those that cannot be reasonably considered as not reaching end consumers, providing that a clear statement is included alongside the certification mark. This statement should read "this product was manufactured in a plant whose xxxx (environmental management system is certified as meeting the requirements of xxxx (ISO 14001)". The statement shall in no way imply that the product, process or service is certified by this means. The statement must include reference to:

- Identification (e.g. brand or name) of the certified client
- The type of management system (environmental applicable standard)
- BM TRADA VENTURES as the certificate issuing entity

Size

The size of the certification mark can be adjusted as appropriate for the use required. It must always retain its correct proportions and should never be produced below the minimum size (20mm high). In addition to the usual minimum size requirements, users must also comply with the restrictions on size relative to their own company mark/logo as outlined above.

Modification

No modification or addition to the design of certification marks is permitted.
